

LUCIAN BACIU

Full Stack Developer | Team Leader

ABOUT ME

Managing to become an experienced full stack developer, durring my career I have been acumulating a lot of experience, being involved in many projects and many types of environments. As a software enginner I consider myself a very organized and strict guy when it comes up to code quality. I like to teach, I like to do classes with others and to share every experience I've been lucky to learn from. Excepting programming, my second passion is to compose electronic music, of course, on a computer.
